DANISH-AMERICAN CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

NEWSLETTER

September 2019

Dear Member,

Welcome to our September newsletter. It has and will be a busy month with a lot of events, so continue reading!

It started off with the great Valeur-Jensen Stamford Race - sponsored by Peter Hansen of DACC Corporate Member, Peter Hansen and Battea. The weekend was a lot of joy and fun. With sloping masts and dipping prow, the ship drove fast, loud roared the blast, And southward aye we fled.

DACC sent our chairman as an emissary at last taking such an active part in organizing this year's Denmark Race at the Stamford Yacht Club. Ever the sailor, Peter seems to have made it his goal to have New York recognize Leif Eriksen instead of Columbus for a special day in the calendar. I'm not sure what the official DACC stance is on this issue - no use flogging a dead Norse and all that - but if Peter's energy is any indication, we see no reason why he shouldn't prevail. A fantastic additional element this year was the very boisterous and friendly presence of a large group of Danish Royal Yacht Club members. Congratulations on a well-run event!

The new Nordic Series had its kick-off on September 16, and was a great evening with good attendance, professional and interesting speakers and great networking before and after.

The UN General Assembly (UNGA) and Climate week 2019 also offer many interesting events for our members.

Danish Cleantech Hub has invited our members to participate in their Pitch Finale on September 24. The finale caps many months of hard work as part of the global alliance program Access Cities, where Danish and international companies have developed solutions for how New York can improve air quality and heat efficiency in the city. The event provides an opportunity to hear the finalists' proposals; including the three Danish companies Novenco, Ramboll, and Danfoss. The Access Cities program aims at solving city problems through multi-stakeholders challenges and open innovation, as a way of accelerating technology-solution knowledge-sharing between cities, and to offer better testing opportunities for vendors.

On September 25, 2019, strong women from Djøf will need your support for the Global Goals World Cup. Their team, Team Formation have qualified for the finals and have chosen to play for UN Sustainable Goal #5 Gender Equality.
